

Oxford/Canterbury Exchange Programme 2024-25

Information about Oxford Fellowships at the University of Canterbury (‘Oxford Fellowship’)

Introduction from the University of Oxford

Building on the lengthy association between the two universities, the Oxford/Canterbury Exchange Programme provides an excellent opportunity for the regular exchange of staff between our faculties and departments. The scheme is administered by the University of Canterbury, and we are pleased to take an active and enthusiastic part in encouraging exchanges and contributing to the ongoing success of the Programme.

The Programme has been successful in arranging exchange visits across the academic divisions, involving a broad range of subjects. It has had an impact in highlighting some different approaches to teaching and research in our institutions in fields ranging from the Humanities to the Social Sciences to the Natural Sciences. It has also provided shared common experience, through extended periods of living in the two different countries. Participating academics from both Oxford and Canterbury have been uniformly positive about their experiences.

The University offers a warm welcome to any member of staff from Canterbury coming to Oxford under the Programme and I look forward to meeting future visitors. At the same time, we strongly encourage members of staff at Oxford University to consider the benefits of taking part in this Programme. Further information is available from the Erskine Programme Coordinator at the University of Canterbury (erskine@canterbury.ac.nz).
